

Creeping Sharia —It’s Not a Theory

By David W. Daniels

“Christmas season” —many Bible believers object to the term. We do not celebrate a Catholic mass and eat a bread-god “Christ” on December 25. These ancient pagan rituals are definitely not Christian. Neither does the “Christmas tree” have anything to do with the birth of Christ. That’s something “Christ-mas” decorations, presents and trees have in common. Their origins are pagan, not Christian, and certainly

70,000 School Kids Get Gospel —In Zimbabwe

Missionaries Bill and Janet Eubanks have found a fertile field in the public schools —in Zimbabwe. Doing what is forbidden in America, they are welcomed to freely preach the gospel and hand out tracts to tens of thousands of students each year. A few decades ago the country was known as Rhodesia and was a prosperous nation, exporting food to other African countries.

After a failed agreement with Great Britain, the nation has deteriorated to not biblical. But they have something else in common. They are also not Muslim.

A small housing development in Kokkedal, 16 miles north of Copenhagen, Denmark, may hold a lesson for the rest of the Western World. Five of the nine board members of the housing association are now Muslims. This year they decided it was too expensive to spend 7,000 kroner for the annual Christmas tree.

Tough financial times were not the problem. That same board had, earlier in the year, financed the Muslim celebration of

#1081 - 16 cents

Eid costing 60,000 kroner. That's why people started calling the Muslims on the board intolerant.

Danish media jumped on the story. Conservative Member of Parliament, Tom Behnke, said calmly:

"It is deeply troubling that our integration efforts have failed so badly that Danish traditions are removed and replaced by Muslim traditions the moment there is a Muslim majority."

A small business owner offered to pay 7,000 kroner for this year's Christmas tree, and 7,000 toward next year's Eid celebration. But the answer was still "No."

Residents started gathering signatures for a petition of "no-confidence" toward their board. Two journalists from TV2 News came to report on the story. No sooner were they out of their van, when "25 masked individuals" began throwing bricks and cobblestones at their van, shouting things like "Neo Nazi!" and yelling at them to leave. They left. Quickly.

Martin Henriksen, Danish integration

spokesperson for the Dansk Folkeparti (DF) said:

"Every year we hear more and more about schools and institutions that downplay Christmas to protect the rights of a Muslim minority."

So many people act as if this is something new and "un-Islamic." But this is exactly what faithful Muslims do in every country.

In fact, two Muslims were just elected to the city council of Brussels, capital of the European Union. They promptly vowed to turn all Belgium into a Muslim country, based on Sharia law.

For centuries, Islam has followed a five-step process in taking over countries:

1. Infiltrate (Move in)
2. Populate (Grow large families and recruit others; gain a population foothold)
3. Legislate (Make laws against converting Muslims away from Islam)
4. Decimate (Take over the country little by little, one city at a time)
5. Eliminate (Destroy those who do not submit to Sharia law)

Remember the tens of thousands of Indonesian Christians and Catholics who were tortured, raped and killed by Muslims, simply for voting for independence on East Timor Island in January of 1999?

No? It was devastating. In years following, Christians were slaughtered and churches were burned down to shouts of "Allahu Akbar!" while police looked on approvingly. Google

The Qur'an tells Jews and Christians,
"...our God and your God is One..."
(Sura 29:46)

Really?

Who actually is Allah?
(and why does it matter?)

Few Christians ever try to reach out to Muslims. They either fear an adverse reaction, or know nothing about Islam, so they have fallen for the ecumenical line "we all worship the same God."

Moshay is a Nigerian who has personally dealt with Muslims. He has observed first-hand the violence of Muslims against Christians, and he understands how they think. For anyone with a desire to reach out to Muslims, this book is a great resource.

You will understand Islam as most Westerners don't, and you will learn logical, unemotional answers to the objections of Muslims.

Moshay knows how to approach Muslims in a gentle way that doesn't turn them away. Yet he obstinately refuses to compromise over Jesus' words, "... no man cometh unto the Father but by me."

Confessions of a Chick Tract User

I pass out Chick tracts. That makes me different than a lot of Christians, but that's okay. It's the only solution I can find to an otherwise difficult problem. You see, Jesus told me to witness about Him to the people around me. Good luck!

They're all in a hurry (and so am I a lot of the time). I really can't sit down and talk to them about the Lord, although if they really wanted to, I would be happy to oblige.

So I started passing out Chick tracts. It has become an enjoyable game to find ways to get otherwise indifferent people to take a tract. I offered a Chick tract to a bank teller one day. Her response: "I've already seen that one. Do you have a different one?" I sure did, and pulled out all four that I had in my shirt pocket. "Which one would you like?" I asked. She surprised me when she said "Can I have all four?" That felt good for a couple of reasons. First, I know she will read them (because she asked for them). Second, I know my Lord will be pleased because the gospel message in the back of each tract is so clear.

When I'm in line at fast food restaurants, the cashier is in a hurry to move the customers through. So, as he hands me my receipt, I give him a Chick tract with, "Here, you'll enjoy this on your break." They always say the same thing:

the point to where there is 80% unemployment. However, the government has mandated that all children attend government schools. Eubanks says that there are over 10,000 of these schools with several hundred students each. Since the average life span is now less than 40, these students are a major part of the population.

Politically, the nation is in dire straits, but Eubanks says that as long as a missionary avoids getting involved in the nation's politics, he is free to spread the gospel any way he wants. This is the Eubanks' third annual trip to Zimbabwe where they stay several months going from school to school and village to village preaching Jesus, showing the Chick 78-minute video, The Light of the World, and handing out hundreds of thousands of Chick tracts.

Getting to many of the schools requires a rugged, off-road type vehicle. But when they drive up, the headmistress will come out to share a few minutes of small talk as is customary in that culture. Then she will ask the nature of the visit and Bill will explain that they want to share the gospel of Jesus Christ with the students and give them all a free comic book.

Typically, the teacher will point to a nearby tree and ask if it will be okay to assemble the students there. As you can see from the adjacent pictures, Eubanks is fine with that approach. He uses a variety of tracts both in the local language and in English, since the schools teach it as a second language and many are able to read it. He also uses an interpreter to make sure everyone clearly understands the message.

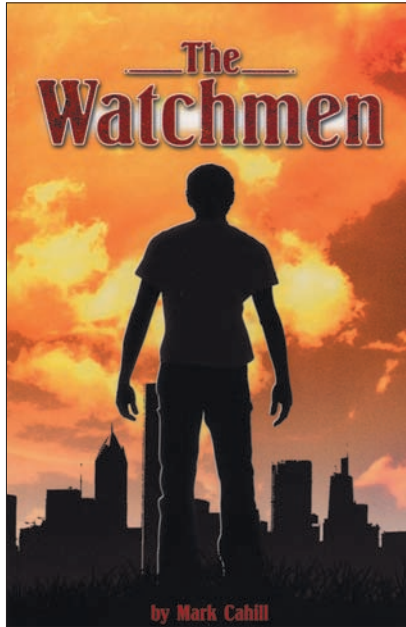

When he finishes, he invites them

Cahill challenges us to be watchmen on the wall, sounding the warning to those around us who are on the way to hell.

We have all heard this before, but Cahill's book is different. From beginning to end, it is filled with short stories of how he opens conversations, turns them to spiritual things, and challenges people.

An emotional book, it is chock full of witnessing ideas and inspiration.

Cahill's best book yet!

Do You Converse to Just ‘Talk’ —or With Eternity in Mind?

Mark Cahill is one of the rare people who is always looking for a way to turn a conversation into a discussion about eternity. He has honed his skill and in his new book, The Watchmen, he lets us sit in on some intriguing conversations that he has had. Here is just one of dozens of examples:

Before I fly anywhere, I always take time to pray for whomever I will be sitting next to on my flight. One time when I was heading to Newark, I sat next to Darin. He worked for the CIA. So I kept asking him a bunch of questions that he couldn't answer! It was a lot of fun. I was trying to pick his brain, but there were just some things he couldn't tell me. I guess I didn't have a high enough security clearance!

During our conversation —wait, let's stop right there.

Remember something very key when it comes to sharing your faith. Sharing your faith isn't a presentation, but a conversation. This is so important. Jesus had a conversation with the woman at the well, and the rich young ruler. Paul had a conversation with Agrippa and Felix. During those conversations they presented things, but the conversations always went back and forth. Can you have a conversation? As a matter of fact, you do it all the time. The real question is: Are you going to leave those conversations in the temporary realm, or are you going to make them eternal conversations?

During my conversation with Darin, he told me that he was an agnostic. Now always remember that if you don't know what a word means, just ask the person: What do you mean by agnostic? What do you mean by atheist? What do you mean by Muslim? What do you mean by evolutionist? Those types of questions keep conversations going, and you can see what the person believes that doesn't line up with the Bible.

An agnostic is someone who has not seen enough evidence to push them to

Brothers and sisters, we need to get busy. Hand out tracts like Camel's in the Tent, Is Allah like You?, and Allah Had No Son that expose Islam, to accept the Lord Jesus Christ as their Saviour. In this year's trip alone, he has preached in 80 schools to 70,000 students with some 50,000 responding to his altar call. At the end of the meeting, everyone receives a Chick tract. Many churches in the area are able to follow up on the converts, although members sometimes have to walk several miles to attend.

In the evening, the Eubanks try to locate a village where they can set up a portable projector to show The Light of the World video. Here, also, they find many open hearts. Usually, the whole village will turn out when they come in and begin to set up the equipment.

Some have questioned Eubanks on the mass evangelism approach that he uses and he responds that that was the way he came to the Lord as a youngster when he attended a church camp. With the addition of the Chick tracts, he is confident that those who did not accept Christ will still have a witness from these "paper missionaries," and those who did will be strengthened in their faith by studying the tracts.

In the three trips that the Eubanks have made to Zimbabwe, over a million Chick tracts have been seeded into that field. Looking toward next year in June, they hope to distribute at least 200,000 more on their fourth trip. Your contributions to the Chick Missions Fund will help provide those tracts. When you send your donation, please specify Chick Mission Fund - Zimbabwe Project.

Two Verses That Could Have Changed My Life

By David W. Daniels

It is possible I never would have become a Mormon if only I had known Galatians 1:8-9:

“But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed.” (Galatians 1:8-9)

Let me explain.

Back on June 7, 1972, I was led, using a Chick tract, This Was Your Life, to confess faith that Jesus died for my sins and to ask Him to save me. The soul winner told me to “Go to a church that teaches Christ.” So I went to the Church of Jesus Christ... of Latter-day Saints. I became a Mormon! (What can I say? “Jesus Christ” was on the sign!)

Mormonism is “another gospel of Jesus Christ.” How did it come about? Supposedly it was revealed by an angel named Moroni to a questioning Joseph Smith. Allegedly, following the dictates of this angel, Joseph found what he says were “ancient golden plates” of “another gospel,” in a hill near his house in upstate New York and “translated” it as the Book of Mormon.

But Joseph didn’t stop there. He also wrote, supposedly by various kinds of “revelation,” what became the “Doctrine and Covenants” and “The Pearl of Great Price”. But according to Galatians 1:8-9, any deviation at all from the teachings of the Holy Bible and the Jesus of the gospels clearly stated in it, and you must toss that angel out on his ear! That’s no angel: that’s a devil!

But Mormonism isn’t the only religion that came from an angel. So did Islam! It’s “another gospel,” that teaches “another Jesus” (Isa) in their holy book, the Qur’an. It was also supposedly revealed by the angel Jibril, said to be the biblical Gabriel.

When Jibril first choked Muhammad in the cave of Hira, demanding he “recite,” Muhammad ran for his life, afraid he had been bewitched by jinn or devils. Surprise! He was! He should have known better. Galatians 1:8-9 was written almost 600 years earlier to keep us from being deceived by devils about the Lord Jesus Christ.

These religions don’t follow God’s clear pattern. First He revealed Himself through prophets, but then God’s Son came, the image of God (Hebrews 1:1-2), and showed us the way to the Father through Himself alone (Hebrews 1:3; John 14:6). Jesus came Himself to remove all doubts. Accept no imitations, by spirit or angel or any other false messenger.

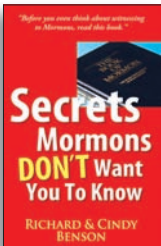

I wish someone had shown me Galatians 1:8-9, sometime during the four years I was a Mormon.

But God was faithful, and He eventually led me to the truth, even when family, friends and acquaintances didn’t. So let me ask you: what are you going to show your friends, to save them from a false religion or a cult, now that you know?

German Chancellor Declares Christians ‘Most Persecuted’

“Christianity is the most persecuted religion in the world.” To anyone moderately aware of world events, this passing comment by German Chancellor, Angela Merkel, is an obvious fact. However, it created a stir in her country and beyond by groups with anti-biblical agendas.

Several “human rights” organizations from the German Green Party to Amnesty International, to the United Nations Human Rights Council’s Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Religious Belief declared her statement to be either “totally senseless,” or “misguided.” They said her opinion was based on “occasionally rumored numbers.”

The highly respected Christian international aid society, Open Doors, jumped into the fray, countering that 80% of the religiously persecuted individuals worldwide were Christian, totaling some 100 million people in all. Open Doors’ list of 50 most religiously repressive regimes fall primarily in two categories: Muslim or “Marxist-legacy.”

The U.S. Commission on Religious Freedom lists 17 “countries of particular concern” for religious repression. The two lists contain mostly the same countries.

Documentation of Islam’s campaign against Christians is extensive. Starting with “moderate” Saudi Arabia’s refusal to allow any church buildings to violent murder, rape and church torching in Nigeria, and the hundreds of thousands who have fled for their lives from Iraq, Afghanistan, Iran, Sudan, Syria and most recently, Egypt. Whenever Islam gains the upper hand, Christians are in jeopardy.

The other category, Marxist legacy countries, are less visible. Russia and some of the other former Soviet block states are turning increasingly unfriendly to Bible believers. Foreign missions work is being squeezed by new laws requiring government registration of all churches. In some cases, only the older movements with at least 15 years existence are approved.

China, along with North Korea, is, of course, the most repressive in this category. But even so-called Western World countries in Europe that have bought into socialism, a daughter of Marxism, tend to dampen freedom for Christians. For example, parents who wish to home school their children have had to move to America or face jail time.

Even more subtle are the pervasive lies of evolution and humanism and general scorning of Jesus and the Bible. Although not physical, this violence to the world view of young people has produced a spiritually lost generation in Europe.

Now, in America, this creeping secularism has succeeded in eliminating almost all Christian influence in our schools, universities, media and social conversation. The sins of abortion and sodomy have now been made legal and any Christian who dares stand for righteousness is persecuted to the limit of the protections of the constitution and sometimes, beyond.

So far, persecution here is primarily pressure to remove manger scenes and crosses from public property, fines levied against Bed-and-Breakfasts, wedding cake bakers, wedding chapels, etc. for refusing to accommodate same-sex ceremonies. However, one incident in Michigan followed the classic Muslim response by mounting a riot against street evangelists. The local “peace officers” ended up forcing the Christians to leave the scene rather than deal with the illegal mob.

Once sin is encouraged in a culture, violence against Christians is usually not far behind. The more the U.S. government moves toward the “Marxist legacy,” the more dangerous it will become for Bible believers. Today, the emerging socialism is but a stepping stone toward one world “Thanks!” Sometimes they chuckle when they see the cartoon on the front, but then it goes into a pocket. It will get read.

In the foyer of my church, I introduced myself to a man who had never been at church before. He pulled out a wrinkled copy of This Was Your Life.

He said it had been given to him just last week, and he thought he should come to learn more. (It had the church address stamped on the back). So often we plant a “seed” and just never really know who is paying attention. This guy was.

I also try to remember to leave a Chick tract with the tip at a full-service restaurant. It has to be a good tip, because I still remember the Christian waitress who told me how other waitresses hated the Gospel because of Christians who gave a tract instead of a tip. Those poor girls work their hearts out trying to feed their kids, and all they got was a piece of religious paper. I definitely don’t want to make that mistake.

One day, after breakfast at a restaurant, a waitress was outside on break for a smoke. She stopped me and related how her little 6-year-old daughter made her read the tracts to her before bed every night. The message was starting to sink in. She wasn’t ready to accept Jesus right then, but the soil was getting softer.

Have I ever led someone to the Lord? Oh, sure, but not right on the spot due to giving them a Chick tract. But I have several friends who came to the Lord after reading one.

I’ll just keep planting seeds. I know that the Lord will keep His promise that His Word will never return void. Maybe someday He will even let me be the one to lead someone to Jesus who already got a tract from me. Wouldn’t that be great?

Meanwhile, I want people to remember me as the guy who gave them a Gospel tract. It doesn’t matter whether they agree with me or not. But when a crisis comes into their life (and it surely will) they will remember that there is a God who cares for them.

Last night I took The Light of the World into jail for chapel. Five of the seven inmates prayed to receive Christ! I highly recommend this movie to prison ministries and any other kind of ministry!!

Parents Beware

Satan's struggle to capture the next generation continues in our government schools. Parents who try to object to the humanist and sodomite indoctrination, are increasingly faced down by emboldened teachers and administrators backed by sympathetic judges and legislators.

Someone has said that, as California goes, so goes the nation. Bills signed into law by Governor Jerry Brown may be precursors for other states. SB 1172 forbids counselors and therapists to handle cases of gender-confused, underage children who seek counseling to escape same-sex desires. SB 1856 instructs foster parents who are supervised by the state to positively support homosexuality, bisexuality, cross dressing, and sex changes for kids placed in their care.

Last year another bill established "Harvey Milk Gay Day" as a recommended day of recognition for the murdered homosexual San Francisco politician. Students were to read a favorable biography, attend assemblies that promoted the same-sex lifestyle and were given Milk Duds candy in celebration of this known child sexual predator.

One college in Washington found itself having to allow a "biological" man, who claimed to be really a woman, use of the women's dressing facilities in the swimming pool area. He/she chose to relax in the pool area, with male genitals exposed, in view of both college women and local 6-year-olds who had come in to use the pool. A new law against discrimination of "transgenders" forbid the college to do anything more than erect screens in the area.

Besides the promotion of perversion, all evidence of godliness and Christianity is under siege by schools from elementary to universities. Christian legal assistance organizations such as Alliance Defense Fund, American Center for Law and Justice (ACLJ) and others are in a running battle with school districts that try to discriminate against Christians and Christian organizations in many ways.

Small churches without worship facilities often look to local schools that are vacant on the weekends. In the past, these have been offered free or nearly free of charge. Now they are beginning to charge large fees when other organizations get the use free. From local churches to international organizations such as the Gideons and Child Evangelism Fellowship, legal help is increasingly required to keep the ministry avenues open.

At the higher education level, Christian clubs in high schools and colleges are being denied benefits given to other clubs on campus unless they adhere to the "anti-discrimination" policies of the school. With homosexuals being added as a protected category along with race and ethnicity, they are pressuring clubs whose charters require prospective leaders to sign a statement of faith. Since sin is now legal, Christian clubs are being pressured to allow perverts into leadership.

Most of this is below the radar of many Christian parents. If you have children in school at any level, you need to talk with your kids about their teachers, know what they are being taught and be ready to help them counter Satan's lies. Remember, the culture is no longer your friend. Children must be aware we are in enemy territory and must be equipped to stand for God and Biblical truth. Many parents have told us at Chick Publications that reading Chick tracts over the years has strengthened their children's understanding of God's way and their resolve to follow Him in their lives.

government. Bible prophecy is clear that when that comes, it will be very dangerous to be a Christian. Years ago, Jack Chick could see how this was developing and wrote a tract called The Last Generation. Over the years, other titles replaced it, but he feels that now is the time to release it again. The surprise ending reminds us of the "blessed hope" that awaits those who are found diligently preaching the Kingdom when Jesus returns.

Later in our conversation, Darin told me that he was on Flight 93 on September 11th, 2001!

My mind began to whirl. That was the flight that went down in Pennsylvania killing everyone on board. Darin then proceeded to tell me that his boss called him on the Friday before September 11th, and said he wanted him in California a day earlier. So he switched his flight from Tuesday, September 11th to Monday, September 10th —still on Flight 93! He then told me that he has his ticket for Flight 93 on September 11th framed on his wall.

So I asked him a very simple question, "Was that luck, was that chance, or was that God that kept you off of that plane flight?" He said, "Yes, yes, yes!" He knew something or Somebody kept him off of that flight! So I let Darin know that the reason that God kept him off of that plane flight was so that he could hear the rest of the story. And the rest of the story is what Jesus did for him on the cross! He told me he liked to read, so I gave him one of my books. You see, my job [as a watchman] was simple: to pull the trumpet out, blow the trumpet, and warn Darin trouble was coming for all of eternity if he did not repent and believe upon Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of his sins.

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ,

Now that the elections are over, churning stomachs are still growling. Nothing changed; the TV's are still talking doom and gloom. North Korea, the Middle East, floods, coming wars, mass killings...every few minutes there's breaking news, and surprise! Whatever it is...it's usually unhappy news.

Where's the good news? It's in the book that contains God's words. Read the end, it says we win. Praise the Lord. People forget that the Lord is running the show. He's still in control. He says He'll never leave us nor forsake us...and He never will.

What on earth do the poor, unsaved do to keep sane? They escape into entertainment, drugs, drink, and to psychiatrists. They don't realize that even psychiatrists have to visit their psychiatrists to keep from going nuts.

Where are the leaders? The leaders are only men. This world system is in the hands of the prince of darkness. The world is moving into the coming tribulation. Each day conditions will grow darker. —However, beloved, we have Light. We have the only thing to save those in darkness. It's the gospel. We've got what they need, Light and Hope! Gospel tracts with pictures will get read.

Thank God we haven't caved in or compromised God's precious message. Our tracts show those terrorized souls The Way. That's what each tract does.

Beloved, when we see these things come to pass, look up, our redemption draweth nigh. We must reach the lost. We must tell them about the rapture because it's right around the corner. Let's go get them, because they are drowning.

God bless you and keep you.
