

New Pope Speaks for Political Salvation

The new Jesuit pope continues his campaign for unity of world religions but now has spoken in favor of the forces driving toward one-world government. In spite of the obvious failure of Marxism in the Soviet Union, China, and many Latin American countries, Pope Francis called for more government control over business and the economy.

The 84-page document called “Evangelii Gaudium” (the Joy of the Gospel), is written in typical papalese with a nod to Francis’s down-to-earth style. He has become much admired for his frugal life style and special attention to the under-

U.S. Vice President Biden was only one of the “kings of the earth” who “committed fornication” with the prostitute “church” of Revelation 17 and 18 at the inauguration of Pope Francis.

Philippines Has Open Door to the Gospel

Because many Chick Publications customers have a heart for missions and support the Missions Fund, we have been able to provide millions of Chick tracts to missionaries and workers worldwide.

We find that certain regions tend to be “hot” for a time, with great freedom for the gospel and openness among the people. When we see an area like that, we feed literature to the workers as fast as possible, until that area becomes less receptive and God opens another one.

At present, the Philippines is just such an area. Even before the record-breaking typhoon, Yolanda, smashed through the center of the Philippine Islands, a stable network of local churches had been established. Chick Publications has worked for several years with Pastor Rodellio Mallari who, fortunately,

New Tract a Shot at the Watchtower

#1090 - 16 cents

One of the most tragic deceptions walking the streets of our neighborhoods today is the one the Watchtower Society has sold to their people. For years Chick Publications has struggled to find a chink in their armor. Finally, a story came together and a new tract was born called War Games.

Often, soul winners will offer to trade a tract for a copy of the Watchtower magazine and be refused. War Games attempts to overcome this by a surprise intro that gets the reader so engaged that he has to continue reading. The story dialog then targets two of the central pillars holding up the Watchtower. When these are pulled down like Samson did to the temple of the Philistines, the flimsy girders of the Watchtower crumble.

Foremost in the Watchtower universe is trust in the Watchtower teachings. War Games quickly challenges the reader to decide whether they will place their trust in the inspired Holy Bible or the uninspired Watchtower teachings. Examples are given where the two directly contradict.

Once it is established that the watchtower is inferior to the Bible, the more critical pillar of their false doctrine of Jesus is attacked. Comparing Isaiah 45 and Philipians 2, the soul winner in War Games proves from the Bible that Jesus is Jehovah and that the Watchtower teaching is a lie. Other proofs are presented such as Jesus' own claim to be divine and the name, Immanuel, (God with us) given to Mary by the angel.

For backup training in using War Games, a book by Daniel Rodriguez, called Winning the Witnesses, is a detailed how-to manual for training soul winners in undermining the JW's trust in the Watchtower.

The JWs offer a cunning mixture of Scripture verses and "almost" Christian doctrines. Their approach, like that of the Mormons, is to first stress elements of their doctrine which avoid controversy. The rest comes later.

But they are an "organization" of slaves, working desperately to "earn" eternal life. They seek salvation, not by grace, but by becoming "Kingdom Publishers." They don't have a personal relationship with Christ (who they say is not God), but rather they observe a system of law and works.

They devote their attention to an all-encompassing fascination with prophecy, and the "vindication of God's sovereignty." They teach that Jehovah God existed from the beginning, His first creations were two angels, Michael (who later becomes Jesus) and Lucifer. Jehovah God created all else through his firstborn, Jesus (Michael).

Jehovah appointed Lucifer to watch over earth, but the angel became jealous of Jehovah. He seduced Adam and Eve, and became Satan. He dared challenge Jehovah's right to rule! Jehovah gave Satan 6,000 years to try to win over all humanity. When he fails, Jehovah God will re-establish his kingdom and destroy Satan and all his rebellious followers, thus vindicating Jehovah's name (an obsession with Witnesses).

After thousands of years of this struggle, Jehovah God arranged for Michael to cease to exist and be recreated as Jesus, a human. He was killed as a ransom on a torture stake (not a cross) for all mankind. This released men from Adam's sinful legacy, and gave them a chance to be worthy of eternal life —if they were faithful Witnesses. When the human Jesus died, he stayed dead. He was recreated as

Soul Winners, We Have Work to Do

As we watch our beloved country deteriorate into godlessness, a review of first President George Washington's predictions is in order. Like Moses in his departure speech in Deuteronomy, he made similar dire predictions for the nation if it strayed from following God. Washington laid out the basics: "...it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection and favor." This was spoken in relation to the first declared day of thanksgiving.

As we look back on the just-finished holidays, there is little evidence of "humbly" imploring "His protection and favor." Instead we arrogantly declare that it is our civil rights to God's blessings we take for granted. We assume it is our own ingenuity that gives us the highest standard of living in the history of the world.

But Washington saw it otherwise: "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, Religion and Morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of Patriotism, who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness, these firmest props of the duties of Men and Citizens. ...[R]eason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle."

Washington's language testifies of a man of high education, and deep insight and wisdom. But modern scholars laugh it off as ignorant and obsolete. However, if we stop and ponder his words, he is talking about us —serious Bible believers. Without our "salt and light," he recognizes that "national morality" cannot be maintained.

In other places, he speaks of virtue: "It is substantially true that virtue or morality is a necessary spring of popular government." Throughout his writings, it is clear that he understands that that virtue, or national morality, can only come through humble obedience to "Almighty God."

It is generally accepted that the only thing that can redeem America from our pervading sin is revival. History also shows that one of the most successful ways to wake the people to the danger of judgment for that sin is saturation with gospel tracts.

Some Christian leaders have claimed that we are in a post-Christian era, hostile

Humanists Desperate to Protect Government Schools

The devil continues to mount multiple attacks on our children. He knows that his success in curtailing our freedom to witness depends on the attitude of the coming generations. Humanist and atheist forces are desperate to eliminate any vestige of Christianity from the government schools. The American Humanist Association is suing a public school teacher in Missouri because she prayed for an injured student and dared to hold a voluntary devotional before class time in her classroom. The AHA complained that, "Non-participating students can see and hear the teacher praying with students as they walk by her classroom, which is close to the school entrance."

In Ohio, a Middle school teacher was fired for insubordination when he refused to remove posters in his classroom that encouraged the students to think critically about creation and evolution. The Ohio was not in the direct path of the typhoon. However, because of the church network Mallari works with, relief supplies were quickly channeled through the network to pastors in the devastated area.

Besides the relief supplies, 32,000 Tagalog Chick gospel tracts happened to be on site when the typhoon hit, ready to be included in the relief packages.

One pastor reported from Tacloban, at the heart of the devastation, that over 90 percent of the buildings were destroyed, electric service was limited to a few generators set up to charge cell phones, which worked poorly because of the damaged cell towers. One of the main sources of employment were the groves of coconut farms where the trees were blown down by the thousands. Even centuries old trees were no match for the wind and storm surge. It would be months or years before farms and businesses would recover to offer jobs again.

Children wandered through the debris looking for their parents, or parents were searching for their children. Police were carrying out the dead in body bags.

Prior to the typhoon, Chick Publications has worked for years with Pastor Mallari. He has been able to take the tracts into schools and prisons with great freedom. He writes, "Again, thank you very much for the last special grant of 10,000 Tagalog The Bull tracts which will find their way into the prison cells of 38,000 inmate populations at the four national penitentiaries. Since we started ministering there four months ago, the Lord has given us some tremendous breakthroughs. Through our joint efforts with four separate teams of partners, we are now able to hold Bible

State Supreme Court upheld his firing, but granted him the right to have a Bible on his desk if he wished.

Besides the struggle over evolution is the homosexual steam roller. “Gay” activists have infiltrated legislatures and enacted laws banning “discrimination.” Using this as a basis, schools are mandated to teach favorably about famous homosexuals like Harvey Milk, who now has his own “day” on the California calendar. Professional therapists are forbidden to counsel underage youths who request help with gender confusion.

New anti-discrimination laws allow “transgenders” to pick which ever bathroom they wish and now we have cases of men and boys showing up in the girl’s bathrooms, showers and dressing rooms. One college in Colorado lists FIVE gender choices on employment applications.

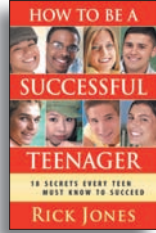

Schools are not immune to the march to one-world government control. Two UN “treaties” are currently submitted to the US Senate for ratification. One is The Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), and the other is the U.N. Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD). Opponents point out that both of these remove the authority of the parents and place it under government control, either US or, ultimately, the UN. Just to show how close we are to the one-world government, the U.S. is one of only 3 countries in the world that have not ratified these “conventions,” handing ultimate control to the United Nations.

Another almost unnoticed move toward government control is a new national “Common Core” set of curriculum standards. Where local, elected, school boards have always had basic control of curricula selection, states are banding together to implement a nationwide standard. The more centralized these standards become, the less influence parents have over the content. Already, parents are objecting to recommended reading material they consider to be pornographic and a change in approach to math that leaves parents unable to help with homework. Increasingly, parents’ requests to opt their child out of objectionable assemblies or classes are denied. A move to establish pre-kindergarten enrollment at age 3 is also a step away from parental influence toward government control.

More parents who see the handwriting on the wall are turning to the last vigorous hold-out against government intrusion — home schooling. So far their legal teams have fended off all attempts to shut them down, even going to bat for European home school families who have fled to the U.S. to avoid losing their children to custody of the state.

Bible believers need to be increasingly vigilant to help their children sort God’s truth from the lies of the culture, such as evolution, homosexuality, and humanism. Parents write to Chick Publications expressing their appreciation for Chick tracts, not just for handing to an unbeliever, but as teaching tools of biblical truth for their families.

dogs. Early on he washed the feet of some women in a shelter and hugged a particularly repulsive disfigured man.

This is his first official “apostolic exhortation” and carries less weight than an “encyclical” but is considered to set the tone for his overall plans for his papacy. Like other proponents of socialism, he instructs the wealthy to share with the poor and urges governments to take control of the process. He decried the “idolatry of money,” and called on politicians to “attack the structural causes of inequality,” and provide work, healthcare and education for everybody.

In all fairness, he calls out the pervasiveness of corruption in most of the countries of the world but again looks to governments and the Catholic Church to fix it. This could be expected, however, with him being the first Jesuit pope. A little digging in some obscure corners of history reveals that the Jesuit Order has been neck deep in politics all over the globe almost from its beginning.

Ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera details in the Alberto Crusader Comic Series how the founder of the Jesuits, Ignatius Loyola, was first commissioned to stop the spread of the Bible during the Reformation. But when that failed, Jesuit missionaries spread across the globe infiltrating high levels of governments to bring the countries under control of the pope.

This did not work well in Western Europe and North America because of the influence of the King James Bible and its exposure of Rome’s pagan idolatry. They

This is just one of many shipments that you helped provide to him.

Over 50,000 tracts went to Missionary Donnie Whitlock, who carefully feeds them to churches and ministries who work with him in the Philippines. He writes, "Out of the 38 nations I have preached in through the years, there is still no place like the Philippines for spiritual hunger." Whitlock and his ministry, Mass Media Outreach Ministries (MMOM), have used Chick tracts for a long time. "Our ministry has found that Chick tracts are loved throughout the Philippines. I can truthfully say, MMOM's Bible Team has never seen a Chick tract thrown on the ground during distribution, as we have experienced with regular tracts.

"There have been hundreds of testimonies of people receiving Christ through the tract ministry—to the glory of God!" He sends us the photo below of supermarket workers where he was invited to preach and pass out Chick tracts to the employees.

The Philippines is not the only place where it is possible to get the gospel into the schools. Missionary Bill Eubanks has been able to preach and distribute hundreds of thousands of Chick tracts in the schools of Zimbabwe, Africa. And in Guatemala, Walter Sayers has been able to preach Jesus in the schools, also.

A project that has been ongoing for a long time involves distributing Chinese tracts in Beijing, China. Hundreds of thousands of Chick tracts have gone into this communist country from the Chick Mission Fund. Sorry, but for the safety of the workers we cannot give you details on how they get in or how they are distributed, but it works! Pray that someday God will open this nation so that its over one billion people will not have to fear the government if they choose to follow Jesus Christ.

At the moment of this writing, the Mission Fund has made commitments of nearly 400,000 Chick tracts for various missions projects, which include Hungary, the Philippines, France, Mexico, Tanzania, the multi-nation Asian Games coming up next year, and others. See page 11 for more information regarding the Chick Mission Fund.

They Just Couldn't Leave 'Bad Enough' Alone

By David W. Daniels

The NIV is proof that some people can't leave bad enough alone. Zondervan came out with the newest NIV. And you won't believe what I just found that they changed.

I was updating my book, Look What's Missing, to include the 2011 NIV. I checked each of the 257 sample Bible verses to see if anything more had been taken out, or if anything had been put back into the text. And I was surprised. The old NIVs had actually gotten something right—so I guess they had to “fix” that!

My first video four years ago was entitled, “Did Jesus Lie?” It showed how, in John 7:8, the ESV and 19 other Bibles took out a crucial word that Jesus clearly said.

Soul Winners...

to God, church and the Bible. They suggest that we are in the same position that the Christians were in the Book of Acts — speaking Truth to power in a hostile culture. We read of decadent Israel's reaction to the prophets Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Jonah and wonder if we can hope to escape the same fate.

Persecution has already begun with judges demanding that Christian business people violate their “deeply held religious beliefs” to pay for abortions and serve wedding cakes at same-sex weddings. We are not yet in danger of being thrown into a dungeon like Jeremiah, but the situation is moving that direction without a nationwide repentance.

Unfortunately, persecution may have to escalate before the sports and entertainment-saturated church members get beyond just playing “ain't if awful” and start working to turn back the tide of evil in this country. Please hold Chick Publications up in prayer for wisdom to produce the most effective ammunition possible for this war for men's souls and freedom to witness.

God's preserved words in English record that Jesus, the Son of God and God the Son, who never lied —the Way, the Truth and the Life, told His half-brothers these words:

John 7:8 Go ye up unto this feast: I go not up yet unto this feast; for my time is not yet full come.

Count them —that's 2 “not yet's.” The first one is crucial —because either Jesus WAS NOT going or He was not YET going. It's one or the other. It's doubly important because two verses later — He did go!

If he was going but He said He wasn't. He would be a liar and a sinner and could not pay for our sins as the sinless sacrifice. We would be lost in our sins and going to a burning, fiery hell with our only chance for redemption ruined by a single, stupid lie. The only Way to your eternal salvation, ruined by one single missing word!

When I did the video, I used the ESV because it and 19 other Bibles removed that first crucial “yet.” But at the time the NIV actually had it right! Even though it was the worst of 40 Bibles, at least it had one thing right.

But they just couldn't leave bad enough alone.

Here's the new-new-new-new NIV. No, I'm not stuttering. The “NIV” was copyrighted four times: in 1973, '78, '84 and now, again, in 2011, indicating significant change. That's just the “NIV” NIVs. That doesn't include the kids' NIV or the disastrous TNIV. Three NIV editions, 37 years, and now, in the 4th edition of the NIV, they decided to make it look like Jesus lied, which means He could not pay for sins, and you are therefore not saved.

What in the world are these guys doing? This is no joke. These are scriptures that toy with the whole idea of your salvation. They make up an inconsistent god —a god that cannot save.

Is this the Bible you're going to give to “apostolic exhortation” is commonly known as “liberation theology.” For decades, Latin American Catholic leaders have promoted this socialist agenda. Today, most of the countries there are in turmoil because of this political philosophy.

Missionaries tell us that it is increasingly difficult to establish true gospel work in countries like Venezuela because of government domination.

This global move to look to the government instead of Jesus for salvation is further evidence that the time of Revelation 13 is near.

World leaders are becoming increasingly arrogant in their refusal to humble themselves before our Creator. They refuse to recognize the truth that, “Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.” (See Proverbs 14:34.)

Chick Publications has tried to produce gospel tracts that will speak to the coming turmoil described in Matthew 24. Jesus said that the gospel would be preached to all nations, and then the end would come. Tracts like The Beast, The Poor Revolutionist, Somebody Angry? and Last Generation speak truth in the middle of today’s confusion and the coming chaos.

We need to generously plant these gospel seed so that the Spirit can water them and God can give the increase.

your friends? No? So no new-new-new NIV for you! What about the 20 others that also call Jesus a liar? Are you willing to pass them off as scripture?

If the unsaved are thinking people, and study verses like the ones I document in my book, Look What’s Missing, they will see through the lies and inconsistency of these modern Bibles. And they may conclude you believe a lie.

I don’t blame them. It sure looks like it. When my son is out witnessing and confronted by Muslims who say “The Bible has been changed,” he replies something like, “You’re right—it has. And I refuse to use those. That’s why I use a King James Bible. It hasn’t been changed.”

Many of the members lost interest and a few came to Christ.

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ,

God's concern for us is that we win lost souls throughout the world. Isn't God concerned with the nations? "All nations before him are as nothing; and they are counted to him less than nothing, and vanity." (Isaiah 40:17) There's only one that matters to Him. That nation is Israel. Remember, when Jesus Christ returns He'll reign in Jerusalem as the King of the Jews.

But what about us, the greatest nation and people in the world? Be careful, "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall" (Prov. 16:18). Well, what about England, Europe, and China? Let's see what God says about them. Take another look at Isaiah 40:17, then decide for yourself.

Why did God bless America like He has? Because we were kind to the Jews. They were safe living here. In fact, God used America to bring in a new nation in one day! And He used President Truman to pull it off. Israel became a nation, and Islam went ballistic.

But now, there's a dark cloud over our nation. Our attitude toward Israel has changed. Our nation is reluctant to show Israel the care and protection it should and God doesn't like it one bit. He says about Israel, "I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee...." (Genesis 12:3). Rest assured, at our devotions at Chick Publications we pray for Israel and the peace of Jerusalem.

I believe as long as we can get out the gospel, the Lord will hold back His judgment of America. So, let's please the Lord by passing out gospel, soul-winning tracts to the lost. The night is coming, beloved. The Lord is coming with a mighty judgment on the nations. "And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21:28).
