

Pope's 'Unity' Push in High Gear

The new Jesuit pope is moving rapidly into the vacuum of world politics. As post-Christian America gives up its leadership to the "community of nations," a vacuum is left that Satan's end-time leaders are quick to fill.

During Pope Francis' visit to the Middle East, he invited Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas and Israeli President Shimon Peres for a "prayer meeting" in the Vatican. They agreed to a date of June 8. To round out the meeting, the Orthodox "Pope," Bartholomew I, was also invited.

Focus of the event was prayer for peace; that confrontation in war must be replaced with negotiations and dialog; that all must come together as brothers under the same "father-god."

When they came together, each had prepared his own "prayer speech" to

New Church In Dominican Republic After Saturation with Chick Tracts

Shortly after they committed their lives to the Lord in 2006, Orlando and Austria Sanchez decided they were not saved to just sit in a congregation. They began by buying Bibles for their friends and relatives.

Soon they expanded to handing out Bibles, New Testaments and Chick tracts on the streets and subways of New York City where they lived.

When an opening came up to expand their distribution of the gospel to the Dominican Republic, they began visiting there, taking, also, clothing and other items needed by the deeply impoverished people.

"Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?" Galatians 4:16

If 'Evangelism' is Dying, What Shall We DO?

"Evangelism is dying in many churches today," writes Thom Rainer in Outreach magazine. He estimates that there is "... only one person being reached with the Gospel for every 40 to 60 church members."

On another front, one of the main topics at the Southern Baptist delegate's convention this year is the rate of declining baptisms in so many of their churches.

Baptisms are a good indicator of church health since they represent conversions, not just "sheep shuffling," as Rainer calls it. Numerical growth can be deceiving. True growth for the Kingdom of God must come from conversion of unbelievers rather than "transfer growth" from other congregations. Only a steady flow of changed lives can build a biblical congregation.

Rainer calls for repentance. "Pastors and other leaders must fall on their faces before God and ask Him to reignite their congregations with an evangelistic passion. When evangelism dies as a priority in the church, the church has already begun to die."

To begin with, soul winning "passion" must come from the leadership. Pastors and other leaders must get out of the church "building" into interaction with unbelievers. One pastor describes how he now studies for his sermons at a local coffee house instead of the church office. This puts him in contact with a steady flow of patrons and staff, often leading to witnessing opportunities with the regulars. Many are surprised when they discover who he is and what he is doing.

They are more surprised that he is willing to stop and discuss spiritual things with them. Besides helping some come to a commitment to Christ, he has learned the rapidly changing points of view of the unbelievers. Now, the sermons that he prepares are much better targeted to training his church members as well as reaching the unbelievers who come to his church. Once a pastor begins to set the example, he will automatically inspire his church members to do the same.

One of the primary mechanisms being used by missionaries in foreign, pagan cultures is community saturation with no-nonsense, gospel literature. New churches are being birthed in the Philippines, Dominican Republic, Ukraine, Mexico, and various African nations using this method.

As America becomes more pagan, neighborhoods more turbulent, and people more confused, perhaps it is time to try a similar method here. One church that does consistent "door knocking," is studying a strategy of using one tract to introduce a subject that is on everyone's mind, then following up with another topic that builds on the last one.

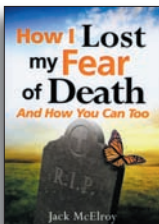

Tract titles that they are considering is Global Warming, It's All About You, and Just One More. Of course, the all-time favorite, This Was Your Life would need to be included in the mix.

Any church that saturated their neighborhood with those titles could be assured of two things: the few people who have "ears to hear" might be touched enough to come to the church to learn more, and the rest would have made a conscious decision to reject the gospel and will answer for that choice at the Great White Throne judgment.

Because of the engaging stories in the tracts, the church could be confident that

You never know which seed will sprout

"I was convicted reading it but I couldn't get rid of it. Got saved less than 1 year later." (B.W.)

Jesus taught us to spread the good seed of the Gospel into the field of the world. But we don't know which seeds will sprout. So we sow, and we hope. Some water, and yet others reap.

Chick Publications still gets letters, emails and phone calls from grateful people who found the Lord because someone was faithful to sow.

So let's remain faithful, and creative. There are so many ways to share a tract. And if it's a Chick tract, you know it's going to get read.

Where will you sow today?

Somewhere, Every Three Hours a Christian Dies for His Faith

Every three hours, on average, a Christian is martyred somewhere in the world. That is the estimate of Open Doors International. In the past few months, Nigeria has topped the list with most violence against Christians on Open Doors' World Watch Top 10 Violence List. Fortunately, western media and governments are beginning to take notice.

When Muslim Boko Haram kidnapped nearly 300 girls from a Christian school in Nigeria, there was a whiff of outrage from the West. The Nigerian government claims to have found their location but feared to try to rescue them lest they be killed by their captors.

In the last year, World Watch has recorded 3,641 properties destroyed and over 13,000 incidents of violence against Christians such as beatings, abductions, rapes and forced marriages.

World Watch leaders admit that theirs is a "minimum" count. Obtaining accurate numbers is understandably difficult. They declined to list North Korea in the "Top 10 Most Violent" index because it is impossible to get accurate information. They know that thousands of Christians are starved and tortured in North Korean prisons. But these are not included in WW's numbers.

Seven of the top 10 countries are Muslim-dominated with 85 percent of the deaths occurring in Nigeria, Syria and Central African Republic. However, even in less hostile places like Latin America, Christians can get caught in the crossfire between tribes, drug runners and renegade soldiers.

One very disturbing development is the decimation of Christian communities in the countries where the U.S. has pursued terrorists. Iraq had over a million who claimed to be Christian before Saddam Hussein was deposed. Over half have been driven out of the country during the conflict by radical elements who took advantage of the chaos to behead leaders and bomb churches.

After $2 trillion and 6,700 American lives in the "war against terror," Iraq and Afghanistan are among the top five most dangerous places to be a Christian. Egypt and Syria have also moved up on the scale of persecution since the U.S. involvement in regime change. Muslim opportunists were quick to use the disruption to the advantage of Allah.

The "Arab Spring," that promised to bring greater freedom in Muslim countries has been hijacked by Jihadists and turned into a "Christian Nightmare." Emboldened by the success of Islam in purging Christians, Hindus and Buddhists have actually escalated attacks in countries like They're After Your Children!

By David W. Daniels

For children, sexual preference has become a one-way street.

In the state of California, for example, according to laws on the books at this very moment, if children are sexually abused and feel attracted to their own gender, they may be counseled in favor of the idea that they are homosexual, lesbian, bisexual, transgender or something else.

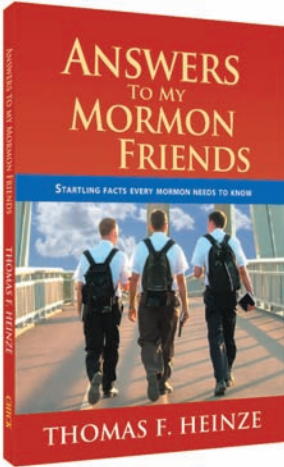

However, if the children do not like that feeling and want to get rid of it, it is illegal for professional therapists to say or do anything to help them turn from those urges and return to heterosexual feelings.

Even non-professionals are in danger of being accused of discrimination and hate

New Church...

“We went there with not only Bibles, New Testaments and Chick tracts, but also with other items of need to help the people. “We soon learned that, out of all the literature we’ve given out, the one which had the most impact was the Chick tract because of the ‘comic book’ style in which it’s written. People couldn’t get their eyes off the tracts even as they walked the quiet streets of the town,” writes Sanchez.

After a few visits, using Chick tracts to saturate a number of the towns, “We found the town ripe for further evangelism and teaching of the Word of God. So, after much thought and calculations, in 2009 we started to build the church the Lord had revealed to us,” he continues.

Now that the church building is complete enough to be usable, they are reaching out to a wider area with their saturation of the gospel: “At the beginning the church members came directly as a result of our handing out of Chick tracts on our previous missionary trips and during the construction of the church. Now they even come from other churches looking for the strictly Bible-based teachings of our ministry.

“And that’s the reason we’ve adopted, from the beginning, the Chick tracts, because of their adherence to the written Word of God. We have two ways of passing out tracts. First we “comb” the entire town where the ministry is based by going door to door. Then we do the same with all the nearby towns and villages up to two hours drive away.”

As the church is under completion, leaders are being trained to shepherd the growing

Picture of the now completed, new church under construction in Dominican Republic congregation. Despair is so rampant among the people that many commit suicide. Sanchez is currently planning a saturation with the tract, No Fear, to counter this evil.

This is just one of the many projects made possible by the Chick Missions Fund. See page 11 for how you can be involved in supplying tracts for missionary saturation programs like this.

in any attempt to guide them to the truth.

This didn't happen overnight. For years laws in California and some other states have been passed that allow LGBT advocates more and more access to your child:

SB 543 (2010) allows school staff to remove your 12+ year old child from school without your consent, to be counseled in favor of homosexuality by LGBT counselors, under the guise of "mental health counseling."

ACR 82 (2010) makes schools into "discrimination-free zones" that will "counsel" anyone who speaks or writes against LGBT behavior.

SB 572 (2009) forces celebration of "Harvey Milk Day" yearly, about May 22nd, teaching children to admire a homosexual predator, who sexually abused males as young as 16.

SB 777 (2007) requires teaching all children from kindergarten upward that gender is not determined at birth, but can be chosen later, based on feelings.

How does this affect your child?

In California, from kindergarten through high school and into college, the law says that your public school child must be systematically indoctrinated into believing that various forms of sexual perversion are good, healthy expressions of "who they are."

This also means that anyone who lovingly warns them of the dangers of those behaviors must be "bad." So you, your pastor, Christian counselors or even medical practitioners who dare to warn your child that these activities are dangerous, much less that God forbids such behavior, are now labeled as "enemies of the state." You have become the enemy. It's that simple.

Why would anyone do this?

Many people can tell you from personal experience that LGBT men and women have tried to recruit them into their chosen perverted lifestyles. This recruitment is necessary because they cannot reproduce. They must inseminate, adopt, or recruit. And they are seeing to it that laws are written to make your child ripe for the picking.

What can we do about it?

We must inoculate the children early, as well as youth and adults, against the lies of the enemy.

The Devil wants to sweep as many people to a Christless eternity in the lake of fire as possible. We must inoculate the children early, as well as youth and adults, against the lies of the enemy. That means reading and teaching the Bible to them (even the hard parts, like Sodom and Gomorrah and Romans 1).

We may feel uncomfortable talking about such things, but I promise you: there are plenty of LGBT people who are ready to impose their point of view, regardless of what you do or say. Start teaching them now. It is a lot easier to inoculate someone from small pox, than to cure someone who has it.

We have tracts that can help, like Home Alone, Sin City and Uninvited. And we have the e-book Hot Topics, to give you more ammunition to fight this very powerful, well-financed enemy.

With the gospel of hope, we can offer rescue to those on the world's path to destruction. We can also warn the children before they start that path and prevent a lifetime of pain and sorrow.

Christian Media Pushing Ecumenism

The pope's PR mill is working overtime to advance the unity theme. Christianity Today has a recent article using a play-on-words to sell the word "catholic." Just like the media of the world provides cover for unconstitutional government overreach, the Vatican has infiltrated some Christian media and transformed it into a propaganda mill for ecumenism.

The basic word "catholic" without the capital "C" means the universal church. But Rome has mastered the art of subtly morphing the meaning of words to her advantage. In order to bolster her claim to "Mother church," she has included the word, "Catholic," into her official name, laying claim to legitimacy. The whole attempt is to cover and hide her unbiblical, pagan teachings and woo the sleeping Protestants back under her thumb. And by co-opting this word, the RC cult has positioned itself to be "orthodox" (in possession of truth) to the exclusion of all others (heretics).

The thrust of the article is that the gospel is a universal gospel just like the church is universal (catholic). Basically this is true of both the gospel and the church. However, when an organization promotes a gospel that differs from the biblical gospel, it no longer qualifies as a part of the universal church.

So, the devil's trap is to get us to ignore the essence of the gospel and assume that, just because they claim to promote the gospel, it is the right one. The sales pitch is that we should all get together in our efforts at "evangelization" (the pope's term).

The article places the ecumenical mantra: "What unites us as Christians must always be valued more highly than the things that distinguish us," in bold,

When an organization promotes a gospel that differs from the biblical gospel, it no longer qualifies as a part of the universal church.

deliver to his particular god. Pope Francis invoked the "God of peace." Although Abbas used the name "God" in his prayer as translated to English, it is safe to assume that he was directing his petition to his god, Allah.

Peres quoted from the Psalms and Proverbs with more emphasis on speech than on prayer.

Peres and Abbas both centered their attention on Jerusalem as vital to peace for Israel and the Palestinians. To Abbas, it was Islam's "gate to heaven."

For Peres, "The Holy City of Jerusalem is the beating heart of the Jewish People." In his prayer/speech, the pope avoided the subject altogether, mentioning only the "Holy Land" and "Middle East," as he emphasized his subject of peace and brotherhood "as children of one Father."

So, what is wrong with this picture? First of all, the assumption was that they all worshipped the same god, since all three are descendants of Abraham in their three common "monotheistic religions." This, of course, has become almost a given in the world. President George W. Bush declared as much, after 9/11. Recent popes have all promoted the idea. Many evangelicals have also bought into the concept.

But can this be true? Not if you believe the Bible! How can the pope's wafer "Jesus," Abbas' tribal moon god, and Peres' two-thirds God (leaving out Jesus) all be "One?" I suppose, since none of

Missionary Pressured to ‘Unite as One’ with Catholics

Ecumenism (unity) pressure is building on many parts of the mission field. This email just came from a ministry in Latin America:

In a previous e-mail I’ve promised to tell you about the tract, Last Rites or Extremaunción, we’ve been handing out. Two pastors came to visit us at our ministry’s church and even though they tried to be subtle at first, they ended up asking us to unite with them by putting aside (disregarding) our differences in “doctrines” so that the entire town could see that we are united as “one.”

#120 - $2.25
comic book

To make a long story short, after laying down some fundamental truths of the Word of God, I told them that the “doctrines” are what separates the true followers of Christ from the Cults. Nevertheless, to end on a friendly note we gave them some Bibles and New Testaments which they were needing.

Don’t Offend Our Catholic Friends

However, now we are being criticized by all the pastors of the area where we serve the Lord, saying that even though they admit that our teachings are Biblical, this time they cannot agree with us in the handing out of “tracts” that offend “their Catholic friends”.

Did you catch that? I couldn’t believe it when I was given the message. Their complaint is specifically about the Chick tract Last Rites or Extremaunción. They told our members to tell my wife and I that we should discontinue the handing out of this tract because it offends many people in the town. I remembered that I had just seen, in early April, the last shameful attempt of the Vatican to unite all religions, when I saw, online, Anglican bishop Tony Palmer speaking to a conglomerate of Evangelical pastors (headed by Kenneth Copeland) who shamefully welcomed the message of “unity” of Pope Francis and even prayed for and blessed him. Ouch! God have mercy on me...

But what I want to get at, is that I never thought that I would be dealing with this heresy so soon. The repercussions of this heresy are going farther than what we can imagine. Now it’s all over the world.

Therefore, as the Scriptures state, we’re certainly living in the last days of this man-made system, and because of that we must do more each day to reach as many people as we can with the true Gospel of Jesus Christ. And there is no better way to do it than with a tract which presents the gospel of Christ in a pleasant to read, yet biblical manner. Thank God for Chick tracts!

I don’t mean to overwhelm you with my stories, but this is an example of what was written in the front page of April’s Battle Cry.

India and Pakistan.

Bible believers, we are living in a blip in history where religious freedom is the norm. We take it for granted but in most of the rest of the world it is just a dream. From the time of the apostles to today's Boko Haram, a pounding on the door in the middle of the night is not just a passing nightmare, but a very real signal of torture and death ahead.

Jesus spoke of working while it is day for the night is coming. We see the shadows gathering with the advance of the "Freedom from Religion" movement purging every possible posting of the ten commandments, memorial crosses, and the legalizing of sin and perversion.

With so many looking to government instead of God for salvation, how shall the righteous prosper? By fighting back, snatching one soul at a time from Satan's grasp.

And how do you know who might be open to the gospel? For generations, soul winners have used the simplicity of gospel tracts to sort them out. Those who "have ears to hear" will respond; those who don't, will have no excuse at the day of judgment.

But if we don't spread the Word, we will also be without excuse when we come with no harvest.

Chick Publications gets many testimonies of people who read the tracts years ago, rejected the message at the time, but remembered the story and the Holy Spirit was able to use that memory years later when their hearts were more open to the gospel.

Pope's Unity...

these is the true, biblical, Creator, this leaves only one alternative: the “god of this world.” Are not all these confused leaders described in Paul’s second letter to the Corinthians, 4:3-4: “But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not...”?

How sad that these men of such worldly power are looking for “peace” in all the wrong places. Only the Prince of Peace can deliver what they are looking for.

But, as detailed in previous issues of Battle Cry, this pope is starting a very bold play for unity, bringing all the religions together under one False Prophet, cohort of the Beast of Revelation 16.

Pope Francis is well aware of the need to also unify the politics of the world into a one-world government as part of the package.

Basic to this goal is the development of a one-world Bible. Author David W. Daniels has described in detail how a plan to “fix” the Bible began shortly after the Reformation.

Having failed to stamp out the preserved Words of God during the Inquisition, Satan formed a strategy to begin discrediting it and replacing it with new versions increasingly acceptable to all religions: eventually one world Bible for one world religion.

The story of Why They Changed the Bible is a shocking expose of Satan’s highly successful ploy to flood the world with polluted Bible versions paving the way for the Beast and his False Prophet. The book is available from Chick Publications in both text and ebook form.

Media Ecumenism...

stand-out headings. But by concentrating only on what unites us, we can miss the unbiblical beliefs that distinguish us from the cults. Just “naming the name of Christ,” does not mean that we all have the same “Christ.” Paul warned about another Jesus, another gospel (See 2 Cor. 11:4 and Gal. 1:6).

Here is the heart of it: The gospel is to trust the biblical Jesus, alone, for salvation, not to trust a “wafer Jesus” who requires the addition of a lot of rituals, sacraments, saints, priests, the Virgin Mary goddess, and Mother “church.” Romanism has another gospel because it has another Jesus and requires trust in the church for salvation. Rome’s subtle deception is that they claim to preach the same Jesus as Bible believers.

We must be sure it is the biblical Jesus we are worshipping and preaching. We must be sure we have the true gospel when we attempt to evangelize. When we join forces with another “church” to share the gospel, we must be sure we both have the same gospel. Otherwise we can be unequally yoked together with unbelievers if their trust, faith, belief is not in the Biblical Jesus Christ.

Christianity Today is promoting the idea of cooperating with others by focusing only on things that unite us, ignoring the differences as if they do not matter. This may be okay in things like opposing abortion or attacks on our religious freedoms. However, we must draw the line when it comes to cooperating with someone who is promoting another gospel or another Jesus. Cooperating in the things we agree on has become a foot in the door to sell us their false gospel and pagan Jesus.

The Jesuit pope is pushing hard for one world religion but he needs a one world Bible. David W. Daniels’ new book, Why They Changed the Bible, clearly shows how the modern versions fit his agenda. Time is late. We need to get busy in the harvest.

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear Ones in Christ:

Last week my wife handed me a letter from the Superior Court to appear for jury duty. It appeared very intimidating. But now that I'm 90 with a few health problems, I just might miss having to go.

But one day all of us will get a summons from God to appear before Him in judgment. And we won't be able to get out of it, because the Lord will send an angel to bring us. A court room can be very scary. When the judge comes in, everyone stands in respect. But imagine how each of us will feel at the Judgment Seat of Christ, when we face the Lord! It makes me shudder. Every bad thing we did as believers will be played back. And things we thought would be acceptable will be burned up. God's word says in 1 Peter 4:18, "And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?"

So many living today haven't the slightest thought of judgment after death. Who will warn them? When we Christians stand before the Lord, all the wood, hay and stubble of what we thought were good works for God will be burnt up (1 Corinthians 3:11-15). Think of all the times we didn't show a lost soul that we cared, by giving him or her a gospel tract. That will be burned up, too. But we can remedy all that, starting today.

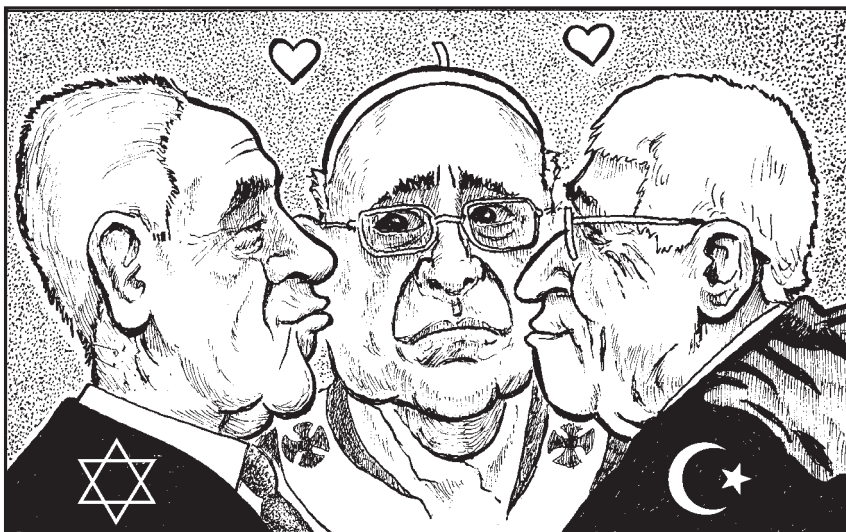

We are involved in the most important job on earth: to win souls. By giving the message of salvation in a tract that they can carry with them and read on their own, you may open the doors of salvation to someone you haven't even the time to talk to. And those works won't get burned up.

Think about it, Beloved.

Your brother in Christ,
