

Pope Proves that RC “Church” is Still Counterfeit

Mother Teresa must have a Twitter account. At least, her good friend, Pope Francis, seems to think so. He recently tweeted her a prayer: “Mother Teresa, tireless worker of charity, pray for us, so that our criterion for action might be gratuitous love, offered freely to anyone without distinction of language, culture, race, or religion.”

So, what’s wrong with this picture? It’s really hard to know where to start. First of all, where in the Bible does God give us permission to pray to anyone other than God? Of course, Jesus, being God, said that no one comes to the Father but by Him (John 14:6).

See Still Counterfeit p. 2

In the book, “Mother Teresa: Come Be My Light...” she speaks throughout her life of a “terrible darkness within me.” Despite her “good works,” there is no evidence of her attempting to lead people to the Jesus of the Bible. (Proverbs 14:34)

University Students Studying How to Overthrow the State

Chick Publications is reprinting some of the older titles that have come into relevance with the changing times. Fat Cats and The Poor Revolutionist are available temporarily because of the changing culture.

If you feel that the allegory tract, Fat Cats, is farfetched, consider this: an email from the American Family Association just reported that: “Washington and Lee University in Virginia came under fire after it was discovered that the school was offering to students a course on ‘How to overthrow the state.’”

According to Fox News, the course encouraged the students to consider ways, as the supposed head of ‘a popular revolutionary movement,’ to overthrow the government and ‘forge a better society.’

AFA also reported that: “A

It is commonplace to ask fellow believers to petition God for our needs. However, nowhere in scripture does it indicate that those who have passed on can do that. In fact, it could be very dangerous to trust them because those that have passed on may not have made it into the heavenly realm. For example, in the case of Mother Teresa, there is the grave question of whether she even entered into that blessed realm, given her unbiblical theology exposed by some of her statements while she was still alive. (See the article Poor Mother Teresa: Good Works But No Faith on www.chick.com.)

But, given the fact that much of Rome's teachings are simply baptized pagan rituals, this smacks of pantheism, which proposes that there are a wide range of gods responsible for various aspects of heaven's economy. Along with Saint Teresa there is Saint Joseph, the patron saint of home sellers, tasked with helping you sell your house if you bury one of his idols in your yard. If you are looking for a job, then St. Cajetan is your contact in heaven.

When asked how many patron Saints there are, here is what Google responded: "There are more than 10,000 saints recognized by the Roman Catholic Church, though the names and histories of some of these holy men and women have been lost to history. The saints of the church are a diverse group of people with varied and interesting stories."

Indeed!

The path to sainthood is tightly prescribed. Mother Teresa was born Agnes Gonxha Bojaxhiu in 1910 in Skopje, Macedonia. In 1985, after a lifetime as a nun in Calcutta, India, she was awarded the Medal of Freedom, the highest US civilian honor, for her famous work among the poor.

After her death at age 87 in 1997, she was "beatified" in 2003 by the pope. Apparently, she made a rather quick trip through purgatory. "Beatified" designates the point at which a person is allowed into heaven. It also installs them in the Roman Catholic pantheon because it confers upon them the capacity to intercede for those who pray to them.

But full sainthood is not yet. During this test period of juggling an unknown volume of prayers, the world is watching for results. These must come in the form of attributable miracles. Someone who specifically petitioned St. Teresa has to report miraculous success to that prayer. This promptly came for her in the form of a healing of a cancerous tumor for an Indian woman in 2003.

It was not until 2008 that the clinching miracle came to a Brazilian man who suffered from a viral infection that left him in a coma. His wife's persistent petition to St. Mother Teresa was considered effective when he was found awake and alert just prior to a scheduled brain operation.

After a respectful interlude, Pope Francis declared Mother Teresa a full saint in 2016.

This charade is only one of the numerous ways that Rome's unbiblical rituals bind people to this prostitute "church." Changing Jesus into a wafer-god comes from ancient Egypt. And the simple mother of Jesus has become a goddess knock-off of the Babylonian mother god, Semiramis.

Soul winners, our hearts should break for the precious people deluded by this fake "church." Chick Publications has numerous books, tracts, and comics exposing this fraud. In recent years the pope has persuaded the world that Catholicism is "just another denomination." Don't believe it, and please become informed so you can lead at least some out to full freedom in Christ alone.

A great time of year to witness

This time of year, many lost people are out shopping at malls. Or they're at grocery stores, gas stations, restaurants, school activities, etc. What a great time to give them a Chick tract.

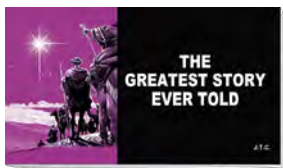

And this time of year, many hearts are softer than at any other time of year, making them more receptive to the gospel. Here are a few ways you can use Chick tracts.

Give Chick tracts to...

- Gas station attendants
- Store sales clerks
- Co-workers
- Motel employees
- Shoppers waiting in line
- School teachers
- Busboys, cashiers, etc.
- Grocery store workers

Leave Chick tracts...

- Under car windshield wipers
- In pockets of clothing you try on
- On dressing room benches
- In rental cars
- Airport waiting areas
- Plane seat pockets
- In hotel rooms
- On top of hotel ice machines
- In envelopes with Christmas cards
- On gas pumps
- Between cans on grocery shelves
- In bank drive-thru canisters confederation of radical leftist groups held a Zoom meeting to discuss ways to foment ‘mass public unrest’ should the November elections not produce a clear presidential winner.”

It is amazing how Jack Chick saw this possibility in the 1990s. It was happening in the Latin American countries and he based the story line of Fat Cats in that culture. Now we see it come home to America.

For soul winners, what shall we do?

First, we need to recognize that, just as in Fat Cats, it means persecution. But execution is only part of the picture of persecution. We may not see the present government squeezing of churches and threats of jail for pastors as persecution, but it always starts little by little.

Given the world-wide growth of Marxism in the drive toward anti-Christian globalism, more severe persecution of Christians cannot be far behind if America’s umbrella of freedom is lifted.

Many of the current issues are spoken to in the Fat Cats tract:

- The corruption of the power-hungry elite.
- Disregard for the law.
- Class struggle.
- No original sin.
- Indoctrination of children.

Some might question the inclusion of the Jesuit priest in the storyline of Fat Cats. However, careful review of the Vatican’s position on socialism and globalism demonstrates their buy-in.

While there is considerable debate about how strongly Pope Francis believes in and promotes socialism, history leaves no doubt that the Vatican has always worked to dominate the civil society and align itself with the current popular political movements.

And the Jesuits have always been the foot soldiers.

Secret History of the Jesuits is an older book, but it describes in detail Jesuit and Vatican machinations during and right after World War II. It is a glimpse into their centuries-long history dedicated to direct attack on the true church as well as subtle subversion of God’s words. Secular historian Edmond Paris reveals Jesuit secrets from the 16th century to World War II. The Jesuits, like so many things in this world, are not what they appear to be.

Nothing has changed except their method.

For centuries, Rome torched true Christians at the stake and burned Bibles that were not tainted with Roman Catholic-slanted text. Today, on the surface, they have morphed into “just another denomination.” But their basic doctrines of wafer worship, Mariolatry, and priestcraft are not changed.

For any questions about the priest’s role in Fat Cats, the book Secret History of the Jesuits and the Crusader Comic, Jesuits, provide a frame of reference for a discussion of the subject.

Pedophilia Now An ‘Orientation’

Revolution is in the air. Powerful people are out to “fundamentally transform America” —and the world. One aspect of that revolution began several decades ago. It has come to be known as the sexual revolution.

Actually, it has turned into more of a devolution. Sacred vows once solemnized at the wedding altar have been casually ignored through mechanisms like no-fault divorce and quiet elimination of laws about adultery, alienation of affection, and even sodomy. Along with these went social norms against promiscuity and immodesty.

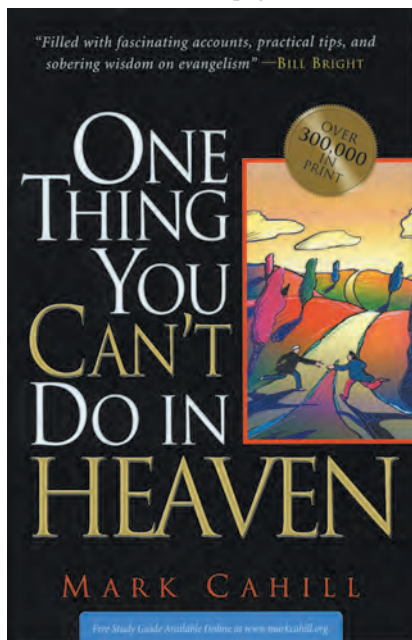

The website Breakpoint.org points out that everyone is a loser in this revolution,

Does Reading and Trusting the Codex Sinaiticus Lead to Faith? By David W. Daniels

Did a man who saw more of Sinaiticus than anyone but Tischendorf grow in faith by trusting its words?

Let's look at what I found in a book called, The Religion of Yesterday and Tomorrow, by Kirsopp Lake. Lake spent more time with Codex Sinaiticus than pretty much anybody but Tischendorf.

He and his wife photographed the Sinaiticus New Testament in the Summer of 1908 and published it in 1911. Then he photographed the Sinaiticus Old Testament in 1913 and printed it in 1922.

In chapter 3 of my book, Is the World's Oldest Bible a Fake?, I stated that the original verses of the Sinaiticus would affect somebody's faith, if you read them as they are written.

For example: in Mark 1:1, it leaves out "the Son of God." Then by the time you get to verse 10, 11, and 12, you start realizing: "Wait a second. the Sinaiticus is saying that Jesus didn't 'become God' or at least 'become called God' until He was baptized."

That's called Adoptionism. It was a belief that Jesus was only human until John baptized Him. After that, he was "adopted" by God to become a Son of God. This was a teaching of some early Gnostics who pretended to be Christians.

You can see how those missing words could affect somebody's faith.

Listen to Lake from page 134: "... it may be argued that Mark ... only shows that Jesus was believed to have become a 'Son of God,' possibly at the Baptism, and that the disciples (and perhaps Jesus himself) believed that he was the 'Son of Man' (which only means 'Man'), who would come from heaven at the last day to judge the living and the dead. This is 'Adoptionism [Jesus wasn't God in the flesh; he was an ordinary man that God adopted] ... for it is historically unsound to identify with God a 'Son of God' (which may mean in Jewish language an angel, or a king, or a righteous man); and whatever the 'Son of Man,' means, it certainly is not God and cannot ever have meant this to Jewish ears."

So by 1925, Kirsopp Lake, photographer of the Sinaiticus, didn't believe that Jesus was God come in the flesh. That's bad. But he also declared that he did believe Adoptionism, God adopting Jesus the man as His son, —little "s."

So Lake's Jesus isn't really God the Saviour. And I can prove it. Back on page 18, Lake said "From Greek and Oriental sources came belief in a Divine Saviour... who was able and willing to give to those who trusted and believed in him, a supernatural power of obtaining in a future life an immortality and happiness denied to the rest of the world."

So Lake is saying that this doctrine didn't come from the inspiration of God. It came from Greek and Oriental, that is, heathen, sources.

Wow. That sounds like Lake is explaining away John 1:12: "But as many as received him [Jesus Christ], to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name:"

I can't quote this whole book to you, but here is another excerpt from page 147: "Whether therefore he [Jesus] claimed to be the Messiah... or was merely so acclaimed by his disciples, is likely to be disputable..."

Lake's trust in the fake Sinaiticus appears to have destroyed his faith. How many others today, suffer the same doubt after reading modern Bibles based on the Sinaiticus?

By focusing on the stream of counterfeit Bibles, Lake ignored the stream of over 5,700 Bibles and manuscripts that support especially the children. There have been continual assurances that the children will be OK if the adults get their way. Lately, we have discovered that they’re not OK. Teenage suicides are way up. Medications for depression are flying off the store shelves. Child trafficking has become a national concern.

So what is the supposed solution? Simply teach the kids how to be safely sexually active as early as elementary school. Then, make abortion available to deal with any inconvenience. If that doesn’t work, then the government will be glad to raise the kids for you.

Having covered so much ground, sexual activists have nowhere else to go—except to pedophilia. Netflix recently came under significant pressure for daring to announce a program involving an 11-year-old girl performing pornographic dancing. The pressure, however, was ineffective because they went ahead and aired the 1st episode. The program originates in France and is called “Cuties.” Additional episodes are planned.

Entertainment has been the trojan horse in our living rooms. Producers are highly aware of the power of suggestion. Simply placing people in sinful situations and quietly displaying them in the background of the plot, desensitized the public with the excuse: “It’s only entertainment!”

Laws are quietly being changed. The governor of California just recently signed a bill decriminalizing homosexual activity between an adult and a minor 14 or over if there was less than 10 years difference in their ages and “consent” was given. This supposedly brought the Criminal Code into line with the heterosexual laws that had been put in place several years ago.

Central to the argument over these changes is the concept of consent. The age at which a child can legally consent to sex varies from 12 to 18 across the world. States in the US set their own limits and they also vary but tend to be on the high

We Need Tracts—Plus Wisdom

A distraught father recently approached a church leader with deep concern over his daughter. She had recently graduated from a secular university. Since she was living in a different locality, his communication with her was electronic. But a discussion with her of the current political situation revealed that she was no longer pro-life.

The father's initial question to the leader was whether she had forfeited her right to eternal life as a result of the shift in her position on abortion. Further discussion revealed that her worldview had significantly shifted away from the Biblical worldview that he and his wife had attempted to shape for her in her formative years.

The church leader counseled that, since the daughter was now an adult, the parent had little direct control over her worldview. His best approach now was to avoid alienating her. He could no longer pressure her as he would a child, but must establish a dialogue that would give him a grasp of her perspective and perhaps give him an opportunity to present his worldview as the superior. This was an opportunity to test his ability to present the full message of the gospel.

Oddly enough, this father was an avid Chick tract user. But this story demonstrates that we must not be completely content to just hand someone the gospel. We must also be prepared to follow up with a more complete discussion of our biblical worldview. A recent study indicated that only 2% of the millennial generation actually has a basic biblical worldview.

This makes it even more important that we seed our neighborhood and our sphere of influence with good gospel tracts to locate those who might be approachable for a more complete discussion of spiritual things. Then, we must study to show ourselves approved as workmen that need not to be ashamed (2 Timothy 2:15). Gospel tracts are powerful little preachers of the gospel. But we who use tracts must not yield to the temptation to neglect preparing for a full discussion of what the gospel means to us.

Besides gospel tracts, Chick Publications attempts to provide soul winners with backup information about most of the major cults that are active in our communities. These include Roman Catholicism, Mormonism, Jehovah's Witnesses, Evolutionists, and others. Please review the book section of our website for these helpful publications.

end. Organizations like the North American Man-Boy Love Association (NAMBLA) are in the forefront of the lobbying effort to lower the age of consent.

In April 2019, parents in Brea Olinda, a school district near Los Angeles, were outraged over a movie shown to their children that appeared to present pedophilia as normal. School officials defended it as part of the necessary history curriculum: "This is done because we are talking about historical perspectives of how gender relations and different types of sexual orientations have existed in history," said Kerrie Torres, the School District Assistant Superintendent of Curricula for Brea Olinda.

Disgusted parents pushed Torres to deny that man-boy sex was an "orientation," but she persisted: "It's something that occurred in history, and so this is really important for us to include."

So, now what is rape in every state law, is becoming an "orientation."

Paul told the Ephesians (5:12): "For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret." Increasingly, childhood innocence has no place to hide.

In that same chapter, Paul states flatly that "...the days are evil." Then he says to reprove "the unfruitful works of darkness." We have a wonderful tool to equip us for this battle. Let's saturate our neighborhoods and communities with no-nonsense gospel tracts!

Missions Fund Report

One of the fascinating parts of working with missionaries as part of the Mission Fund is to see the many ways that they find to continue the work, even with huge roadblocks. We are all too aware of how difficult things become when there is a COVID lockdown. This has happened worldwide, but missionaries have found ways to continue the work. People are still dying and going to hell, so we cannot let up!

Belgium

Junior Haley, missionary to Belgium, was determined to keep ministering, so he got around his 10-person limit in each service by having many services each Sunday. It was tough on him, but everyone got to hear the Gospel. He writes: “We have also been able to get back into our street ministries and evangelism, with little trouble. All of this was illegal for a time; but now we can preach on the streets, give gospel tracts, and go door knocking; and so far the only issue is being required to preach in a mask. Thankfully while we had to change some of our methods, we never had to stop giving the Gospel.”

Ethiopia

Missionary Ray Hoover, BBFI missionary to Ethiopia, receives regular shipments of tracts in Amharic and Oromo languages. He shares this photo with us, writing, “This photo ...was taken in early August in one of our countryside churches in Sebeta. These men may look like a bunch of bandits with their masks but they are blood-bought evangelists who are going out into the highways and hedges to reach the lost for Christ. I am so proud of each of them.” (Note that they have their Chick tracts ...thanks to you!)

Mexico

Missionary Todd Eklund is coordinating a huge outreach here, working with a group of five churches in Mexico City. You just provided them 200,000 Chick tracts for this work in the most populous city in North America. Getting two tons of tracts through customs was challenging, but God is faithful and the work is now beginning. Pray for the Lord to give fruit.

With the help of Missionary Lacy Wheeler, 10,000 Spanish tracts have been passed out in the historic mining town of Guanajuato, Mexico. He is also helping us get another 10,000 tracts to Carlos Donate in Guatemala. This missionary was saved reading “This Was Your Life,” and now will use that same tract (in Spanish) in Guatemala City.

Philippines

Two missionaries who are very active stressing street evangelism among local churches in the Philippines are Bruce Hunsaker in the southern part of Mindanao, and Mike Carey in the north. They have mobilized many churches to put teams on the streets in outreaches using the Chick tracts you provide. Just since the last newsletter, you have provided over 270,000 Chick tracts for these workers. Some of these shipments have gone to churches in dangerous heavily Muslim areas. Hunsaker is

We can help!

We maintain an account called:

A Chick tract can often open the door for one-on-one witnessing, like here in front of a Filipino home.

100% of the funds you send to the Chick Missions Fund is used to ship literature to missionaries.

We receive requests frequently from missionaries who need your help.

Just during the last 12 months, shipments have been provided for:

Australia	Germany	Kenya	Rwanda
Belgium	Guatemala	Mexico	Samoa
Brazil	Guyana	Netherlands	South Africa
Chile	Hong Kong	Papua New Guinea	Spain
Colombia	India	Guinea	Switzerland
Congo	Israel	Philippines	Trinidad
Costa Rica	Italy	Poland	Zambia
Ethiopia	Japan	Portugal	Zimbabwe

More tracts are now being shipped for additional projects, with more requests coming in from missionaries!

Will you help?

especially careful to give tracts to the local police (see photo), and gains their respect and complete cooperation. Everyone loves cartoon tracts, and they quickly open doors to discuss the Bread of Life.

Hunsaker always includes the police in his witness.

Workers supplied with tracts through missionary Mike Carey reach out to young Filipinos.

Chang Soo Nam and his wife are missionaries sent from Korea to the Philippines. They package the 10,000 Chick tracts you provided with snacks, and take them to the streets. People everywhere stop what they are doing to read the cartoons, and hear God’s message of love.

India

In addition to their ministry taking the gospel to those in hospitals, Hospital Ministry of India (HMI) also conducts services in jails in parts of the country. The last printing of 100,000 Chick tracts you provided to them were used with inmates like these at a service at the Jail in Ponnani (Southern India).

One person in this crowd is open to the gospel.
BUT WHICH ONE?

That's the purpose of Gospel tracts. They provide a mass-communication way of finding out who is open to hear about Jesus. The more tracts we give to people we meet, the better our chances of finding that one who is hungry.

Missions Fund Report (Continued from p. 12)

Israel

A large shipment of tracts for missionary A.L. (name withheld) has safely arrived in Israel. The Jewish religious leaders are very vocal in their dislike for his gospel message, but that is the same situation Jesus faced. This missionary regularly uses dual-language Chick tracts to reach the many Jewish immigrants who come to Israel from other parts of the world. They learn of Jesus while they are learning Hebrew!

Asia

Josh and Mary McBryar, based in South Korea, use creative methods to get the Gospel into areas of Asia that are very difficult to penetrate. You just provided them thousands of Chick tracts in Korean, Russian and Mongolian.

We get calls from supporters wanting to know how we decide where to send Chick missions tracts. We want to make everyone aware, we do NOT just ship tracts to random missionaries. Instead, we respond to those who call or write asking for the tracts. They very much want and need them for their outreaches. That way, nothing is ever wasted. These missionaries are very grateful to all of you for making this possible.

Getting Older? Pass It On

As we get a few more miles on us, we find that we don't get around quite as much. We have fewer precious chances to give the gospel to someone.

But that doesn't have to lessen our impact on the world. Let's not forget that there is a new generation of Christians coming right up behind us that want to change the world (like we wanted). They just need some help and guidance.

Passing tracts wherever we go is just not being taught from the pulpits the way it used to be, so we need to take matters into our own hands.

Pick some young people in your church and start to supply each with a package of Chick tracts. Teach them how to use them to make sure the people they meet will know how to find the peace that only Jesus gives.

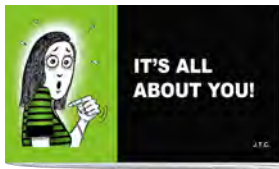

You might even want to let them pick the titles that they think will fit their friends.

Imagine giving a young Christian a copy of It's All About You to read. Then share some ideas on how to give them out. Make sure they know better than to say "Are you saved?" or "Do you want a gospel tract?" There is a better way. Try this instead:

Hand one to a fast-food or grocery cashier and say, "You'll enjoy this cartoon when you get your break." After they see how people love to get them, they will get enthused.

They'll love seeing young people open the tract, see the cartoon, and say "Cool! Thanks! I'll read this."

If you want to really give them lots of ideas, suggest they direct their cell phone to www.chick.com/witnessing. They'll find a great lesson on how tracts can help them obey Jesus, and lots of ways to easily get tracts to people. It's fun!

There are pastors and missionaries ministering all over the world who are there because somebody gave them a Chick tract, and then the Holy Spirit did His job. Let's do ours.

Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

It should be evident to all. We are in a crisis of faith. People are losing faith in their most trusted institutions, including media and medical professionals.

This can be a healthy thing! It is not good to absorb man's words without questioning. We have more access to information than ever, so we should use it, especially when it affects our families and our faith.

Our families and communities have been divided by mass media and political propaganda. One political movement bragged on its website: "We disrupt the Western-prescribed nuclear family structure requirement" to replace it with "villages" that "collectively care for one another" but engage in all kinds of perverse behaviors. Only after public outcry did they take it down.

It takes a village ... to destroy a family. But God did not designate a village to raise children. He told parents to do it. (See Deuteronomy 6:7.)

Our faith has also been under attack. The same basic Christian beliefs that are crumbling, are found in the same verses that modern Bible versions have taken out or changed. That's been going on since 1881 with a new Greek text and new Bibles made from it. Doctored Bibles have been destroying faith.

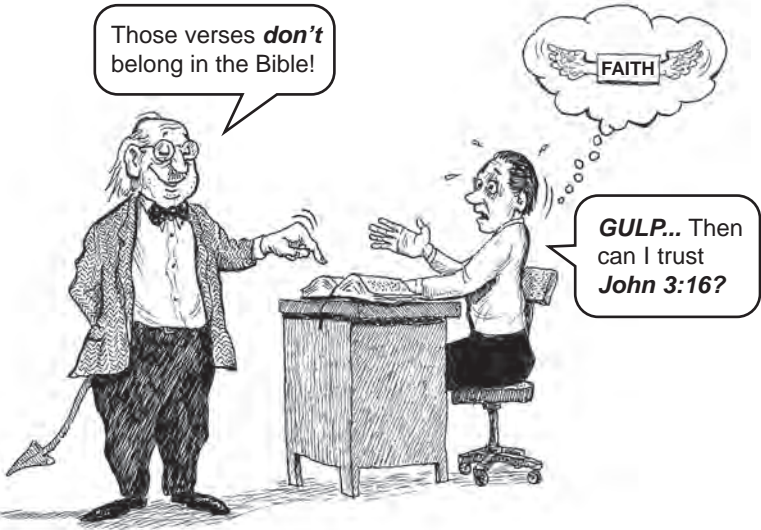

But God has always provided for our faith. He not only gave us His words, but preserved them through history in Hebrew and Greek, then brought them into English in the King James Bible. It's not a "version" of the truth. It IS the truth. And this truth brings what we've all been looking for: FAITH.

Want to get great faith? Pray and read your King James Bible. "...faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Romans 10:17). Get answers from the scriptures.

Want to spread that faith? Let's hand out Chick tracts. It's easy. And the tracts will find those who want to know more. Then our preparation in the scriptures will pay off when people are willing to talk with us. And our solid foundation in God and His words is exactly what this faithless generation needs to hear!
